

Consult The World's Summer Resort List Before Deciding Where to Go.

LAST EDITION.

WIMAN IS SENTENCED.

He Must Serve Five Years and Six Months in State Prison.

TO GO TO SING SING TUESDAY

The Convicted Financier Hears His Fate Calmly and Without Emotion.

TWO SONS PRESENT IN COURT.

Good Behavior Will Reduce His Actual Sentence to 3 Years, 11 Months, 15 Days.

Erastus Wiman, the quondam well-known philanthropist and millionaire, was this morning sentenced to five years and six months in State prison, by Justice Ingraham, in the Court of Oyer and Term.

Mr. Wiman, in charge of Deputy Sheriff Brown, entered the Court-house at 9:45 o'clock. When they reached the head of the stairs leading to the courtroom, they were met by William Dwight Wiman and Harry Wiman, the prisoner's eldest and youngest sons. Both shook hands with their father, and inquired as to his health.

Erastus Wiman, the quondam well-known philanthropist and millionaire, was this morning sentenced to five years and six months in State prison, by Justice Ingraham, in the Court of Oyer and Term.

Mr. Wiman, in charge of Deputy Sheriff Brown, entered the Court-house at 9:45 o'clock. When they reached the head of the stairs leading to the courtroom, they were met by William Dwight Wiman and Harry Wiman, the prisoner's eldest and youngest sons. Both shook hands with their father, and inquired as to his health.

Wiman did not move a muscle and remained standing.

His son Harry reached out and took him into a seat beside him. He then placed his other hand upon his father's and for a moment or two father and son gazed into each other's faces. For a second it seemed as if both would break down, as a suspicious moisture appeared in their eyes.

Then Mr. Wiman leaned over and whispered to his son. The semblance of a smile passed over his face, and both leaned back in their chairs, apparently contented.

In the mean time Gen. Tracy and Mr. Boardman had been busy with pencil and paper, and Gen. Tracy asked Justice Ingraham what would be Mr. Wiman's actual imprisonment under the sentence when the deduction for good behavior had been made for their faces, apparently contented.

Justice Ingraham replied: "Three years, eleven months and fifteen days."

Gen. Tracy then moved for a certificate of reasonable doubt and a stay of execution. Justice Ingraham replied that there was nothing before him then on which he could grant such a motion.

He said, however, that he would request the Sheriff not to take the prisoner to Sing Sing until next Tuesday, to allow him counsel to make a motion for the certificate of reasonable doubt.

Mr. Wiman and Deputy Sheriff Brown left the building by the rear door, closely followed by the press.

Deputy Sheriff Brown held an umbrella as soon as they reached the street, and Mr. Wiman, as they walked to the Tombs.

Just outside the Court-house an "Evening World" reporter asked Mr. Wiman if he had anything to say regarding his sentence. He looked at the reporter and half-smiled, but before he could reply Deputy Sheriff Brown seemed to think that he, as the officer in charge of the prisoner, had a right to speak for him, and accordingly remarked: "Mr. Wiman has nothing to say."

Gen. Tracy and Mr. Boardman left the building by an opposite door, shortly after Mr. Wiman's departure. Mr. Boardman said to an "Evening World" reporter that an application for a certificate of reasonable doubt for a term of five years and six months would be made to-morrow or next day for a certificate of reasonable doubt.

A petition, signed by about one hundred and fifty or two hundred residents of Staten Island, neighbors of Mr. Wiman, was presented to Justice Ingraham before the opening of the court, asking that the sentence be made as light as possible.

Justice Ingraham read his remarks in connection with the sentence from notes, which he turned over to the court stenographer, but instructed him to destroy them.

Quite a crowd followed Mr. Wiman and Deputy Sheriff Brown on their way to the Tombs.

A RED HAT FOR IRELAND.

The Archbishop's Elevation Said to Have Been Agreed Upon.

(By Associated Press.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 20.—The announcement is made on excellent authority that Rev. Charles Koebert, of St. Paul, is to be made Bishop of St. Cloud, to succeed Bishop Zardetti, now Archbishop of St. Paul.

The elevation of Koebert to the See of St. Cloud was recommended most highly. The other two were Father Troche, of St. Paul, and Father Abbe, of Milwaukee.

Father Koebert is said to be in harmony with Ireland's liberal ideas, and is a man of fine character, and a Benedictine Father, who are strong in the St. Cloud diocese.

There is an interesting rumor in Catholic circles that at a secret Consistory in Rome Archbishop Ireland was slated to be raised to a Cardinalate, along with Archbishop Sattoli. This course was urged on the Irish See not only by Sattoli, but by Cardinal Gibbons, in order to give signal confirmation in America of the Pope's liberal policy.

DIED FROM THE HEAT.

Fireman Burns Overcome in a Cold Storage Warehouse.

Owen Burns, thirty-two years old, of 164 Duane street, Greenpoint, was overcome by the heat at 6:30 o'clock this morning while at work in the engine-room in the cold storage warehouse 141 Reade street.

He was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital, and he died shortly after arriving there. He was a married man.

Burns was employed as a fireman. He went on duty at 6 o'clock last night. The boiler room, where he was killed, is a small room, with a boiler and engines that run the ammonia process apparatus that supplies the chilled air to the cold storage.

The other five floors of the building are deliciously cool, downstairs is like the top of a mountain.

Julia Lenahan, twenty-eight years old, of 35 East Thirty-third street, was found unconscious in a hallway at 23 East Thirty-third street at 10 o'clock this morning. She was taken to Bellevue Hospital. It is supposed she was overcome by the heat.

AN IMMIGRANT LOST.

Young George Berger, from Bremen, Mysteriously Disappears.

Detective Groden, of the Bridge Office, caused alarm to be sent out from Police Headquarters this morning for George Berger, twenty years old, an immigrant, who has been missing since June 16.

He is in company with his cousin Emil Rischway, arrived June 15, on the steamship Columbia, from Bremen. They were last seen at the Continental Hotel, Hoboken, and next day Berger came to New York to find his uncle, Max Berger, at 54 East Twelfth street. He did not reach there, and has not been seen since. His uncle found the girl, Emil.

CORRIGAN TO FIGHT.

That Is the Report Current in Western Turf Circles.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—It was reported to-day that Edward Corrigan, owner of Hawthorne, having been refused Turf Congress membership, will not apply to the Congress for a license for his track. This will make all owners, jockeys and officials who continue at Hawthorne after June 23 outlaws of the turf.

Corrigan is quoted as saying that if the Congress will not admit his track membership he will get along without any recognition from the organization.

He has taken all these things into consideration.

Corrigan's sentence of the Court is that he be imprisoned for five years and six months in State prison.

Conclusion of the sentence Mr.

OFF FOR THE ARCTIC.

Peary's Auxiliary Party Sailed from Brooklyn To-Day.

Will Reach Mrs. Peary at Inglefield Gulf About July 25.

To Make Important Surveys and Bring the Explorer Home.

The seven members of the Peary auxiliary expedition left at noon to-day for the regions of the Arctic on the steamship Fortia, in this beautiful and shady village, proclaimed at 9:30 o'clock this morning that the third day's proceedings in the trial of Murderess Lizzie Halliday, of Burlington, were about to begin.

The day testimony was about all in when Court adjourned last night. The defense making no effort to combat the circumstantial evidence that old Paul Halliday, Mrs. Margaret McQuillan and pretty Sarah Jane McQuillan had died at the hands of this sorrowful, disaffected woman.

It had been shown that each of the three had been shot through the heart a half dozen times or more, as if they had been approached while asleep by the assassin and she had held the muzzle of that smoking, rapid-firing pistol close up to the bosom of her victims.

It had been shown that the women's bodies were found hardly hidden from view under the stable refuse near the barn, and the old man's body under the kitchen floor.

It had been shown that in all probability Paul Halliday had been dead several days, and Mrs. McQuillan at least two days, while the girl had been lured from her home near the city, and that on the day only two days before the bodies were found on a pretense that her mother had been ill and needed her.

It had been shown that Lizzie Halliday was a woman of a watch and other things that belonged to the dead woman on Sunday, and all these things were shown with unerring exactness that this woman had killed her husband and the two women in one-two-three.

The bodies were found Monday.

This trial is for killing Sarah Jane McQuillan.

Sheriff Harrison Beecher, tall, lank, raw-boned, good-natured, and plain, reported this morning that Lizzie had spent a quiet, peaceful night in the lumber. The woman refused to say if, indeed, she gave no sign of having heard the questions asked of her.

In court, clad in a brown dress, made by a sister, with her head bent forward, her chin on her breast, her half-closed eyes, her fingers picking, constantly picking, at her sleeves, her shoulder.

Yesterday she was picked at by a handkerchief, which she held to her peculiar shaped nose, a nose like a pick, and she was picked at by a pointed end turning up and rounded. Her lips moved incessantly and her head nodded like a windmill.

Dr. Allen, superintendent of the State Asylum for Insane Criminals, Dr. Selden H. Talcott, of the Middletown State Hospital, and other experts in insanity cases, were called upon to tell the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Miss Halliday was an inmate of Dr. Goodale's almshouse four months, two years ago, and was transferred to the State Asylum for Insane Criminals.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Miss Halliday was an inmate of Dr. Goodale's almshouse four months, two years ago, and was transferred to the State Asylum for Insane Criminals.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Dr. George M. Beaker, of Bloomington, who performed the autopsy, testified that there were three bullet holes through the heart of Sarah Jane McQuillan.

Dr. Charles W. Piper, of Wurtsboro, Sullivan County, came next. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance.

John Bennett, of Bloomington, five or six miles from the Halliday farm, testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Miss Halliday was an inmate of Dr. Goodale's almshouse four months, two years ago, and was transferred to the State Asylum for Insane Criminals.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

BALL-PLAYER LARKIN DYING.

Once-Famous Pitcher Succumbing to Intemperance.

Frank Larkin, thirty-eight years old, who has no home, is dying in the Eastman District Hospital, Williamsburg, where he was taken this morning, suffering from alcoholism.

Ten or twelve years ago Larkin was a famous baseball player. He pitched for the Brooklyn team, and is said to have been the first man to bring the curved ball into practical use.

CITY CLUB SNUBBED.

Its Proposed Amendments Adversely Reported at Albany.

(By Associated Press.)

ALBANY, June 20.—There was an unusually large attendance of members this morning when the Constitutional Convention met.

A hot debate was precipitated by the adverse report of the Committee having in charge the proposed amendments of the New York City Club.

A WIERD MURDERESS.

Lizzie Halliday an Uncanny Figure in the Court-Room.

Defense Doesn't Dispute the Circumstantial Evidence.

Third Day of Trial Finds the Lay Testimony Nearly All In.

(Special to The Evening World.)

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 20.—The ball the cords of the little Sullivan County Court-house, in this beautiful and shady village, proclaimed at 9:30 o'clock this morning that the third day's proceedings in the trial of Murderess Lizzie Halliday, of Burlington, were about to begin.

The day testimony was about all in when Court adjourned last night. The defense making no effort to combat the circumstantial evidence that old Paul Halliday, Mrs. Margaret McQuillan and pretty Sarah Jane McQuillan had died at the hands of this sorrowful, disaffected woman.

It had been shown that each of the three had been shot through the heart a half dozen times or more, as if they had been approached while asleep by the assassin and she had held the muzzle of that smoking, rapid-firing pistol close up to the bosom of her victims.

It had been shown that the women's bodies were found hardly hidden from view under the stable refuse near the barn, and the old man's body under the kitchen floor.

It had been shown that in all probability Paul Halliday had been dead several days, and Mrs. McQuillan at least two days, while the girl had been lured from her home near the city, and that on the day only two days before the bodies were found on a pretense that her mother had been ill and needed her.

It had been shown that Lizzie Halliday was a woman of a watch and other things that belonged to the dead woman on Sunday, and all these things were shown with unerring exactness that this woman had killed her husband and the two women in one-two-three.

The bodies were found Monday.

This trial is for killing Sarah Jane McQuillan.

Sheriff Harrison Beecher, tall, lank, raw-boned, good-natured, and plain, reported this morning that Lizzie had spent a quiet, peaceful night in the lumber. The woman refused to say if, indeed, she gave no sign of having heard the questions asked of her.

In court, clad in a brown dress, made by a sister, with her head bent forward, her chin on her breast, her half-closed eyes, her fingers picking, constantly picking, at her sleeves, her shoulder.

Yesterday she was picked at by a handkerchief, which she held to her peculiar shaped nose, a nose like a pick, and she was picked at by a pointed end turning up and rounded. Her lips moved incessantly and her head nodded like a windmill.

Dr. Allen, superintendent of the State Asylum for Insane Criminals, Dr. Selden H. Talcott, of the Middletown State Hospital, and other experts in insanity cases, were called upon to tell the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Miss Halliday was an inmate of Dr. Goodale's almshouse four months, two years ago, and was transferred to the State Asylum for Insane Criminals.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Dr. George M. Beaker, of Bloomington, who performed the autopsy, testified that there were three bullet holes through the heart of Sarah Jane McQuillan.

Dr. Charles W. Piper, of Wurtsboro, Sullivan County, came next. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance.

John Bennett, of Bloomington, five or six miles from the Halliday farm, testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance. He testified that he found the bodies of the women. He described their appearance.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

Miss Halliday was an inmate of Dr. Goodale's almshouse four months, two years ago, and was transferred to the State Asylum for Insane Criminals.

Justice Thayer, of Bloomington, town of Mamakating, was called upon to identify the woman, who was picked at by the jury that the woman is hopelessly insane.

MISS RUSSELL ILL.

Result of a Surgical Operation Performed Last Monday.

The Fair Singer Is Said to Be in a Very Critical Condition.

Her Husband, Perugini, Sailed for Europe on the New York To-Day.

Lillian Russell lies seriously ill at her home, 215 West Seventy-seventh street, as the result of a surgical operation performed last Monday afternoon.

The operation in itself was successful, but the consequent shock and weakness have prostrated the fair singer. She is in absolute seclusion and sees none but her sister, Miss Hattie Leonard, her little daughter, her physician, Dr. J. W. McKernan, and a trained nurse.

Other friends and relatives are absolutely excluded and all correspondence and newspapers are kept from her, and it will be two weeks before she will be permitted to come into the slightest touch with her own business affairs and the events of the world.

It had been the intention of the family to keep the operation and illness a secret, but Miss Russell was herself the direct cause of the revelation. She was suffering intensely and yesterday begged to see her little girl, Miss Leonard, her sister, went to the convent where the child is at school, to bring her home much to the surprise of the family.

She there met Henry E. Dixey and Chauncey O'Leary, who were visiting their children. They immediately asked why Miss Russell had not called for her child, and Miss Leonard said that the mother was sick and made some mention of a hospital.

The report got on the street last night, and this morning a newspaper published a statement that Miss Russell would shortly go to a hospital to submit to a critical operation.

When an "Evening World" reporter reached the Russell family home, overlooking the Hudson, this morning, he admitted only after Miss Leonard had been told of the published report. The house was as still as a tomb, and the tiny servant whispered an injunction to keep her mother's illness a secret.

Miss Leonard expressed herself as distressed at the publication.

"My sister wouldn't go to a hospital if she had to have twenty doctors on duty all the time in the house," said she. "It is at school to bring her home much to the surprise of the family."

She heard of this, but she shall not for some time to come at all events.

Miss Leonard said that she would read no letters nor telegrams. She is absolutely out of the world, and it is necessary to keep her so. We don't want to put her there in fact.

The operation to which she submitted was performed by Dr. McKernan and two other physicians. She has known for a long time that an operation was necessary to keep her in perfect health, but has put it off until her health was in such a state that the delay would be dangerous. She stood it bravely, but has since been very sick.

Miss Leonard was told that Perugini, Miss Russell's married husband, sailed for Europe this morning.

There was just the suspicion of a sneer upon Miss Leonard's face as she replied:

"My sister does not even know that, although we have a letter from a friend announcing the fact."

Miss Leonard was asked if Perugini did not convey notice of his prospective journey himself, and the answer was that he had not.

The absolute and final character of the separation cannot be doubted, since Perugini's wife had been told nothing of it. It is to the wife, who is a very sick woman indeed, and may

"NOT GUILTY."

Judge Diver Acquits Bunco King Diver.

MISS RUSSELL ILL.

Result of a Surgical Operation Performed Last Monday.

The Fair Singer Is Said to Be in a Very Critical Condition.

NEW VOTE ON SUGAR.

Senate, 33 to 22, Takes It from the Free List.

QUAY AGAIN FOUND VOTING FOR THE TRUST'S INTERESTS.

Peffer, Against His Own Conviction, Opposes Free Salt.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—At 12 o'clock in the Senate to-day Mr. Aldrich demanded a separate vote upon the Committee amendment striking sugar from the free list.

The amendment was adopted, 33 to 22. Quay, Fry, Allen and Kyle voted yea, and Peffer voted no.

Mr. Peffer (Pop. Kan.) addressed the Senate briefly, at the opening of today's session, in support of his resolution instructing the Committee on Post-Office and Post-Roads to report back a postal-savings bill.

Mr. Manderson (Rep. Neb.) said he had introduced a postal-savings bill based on the English system, but he did not favor the paternalistic scheme of Mr. Peffer, which contemplated making the Government the banker of the people, and the complete extinction of private financial institutions. No action was taken on the resolution.

When the Tariff bill was taken up the consideration of the free list was resumed, the pending question being Mr. Peffer's amendment to strike salt from the free list and place it on the dutiable list at five cents per hundred pounds. The present duty on salt is eight cents.

Mr. Peffer explained that, personally, he favored free salt; but that his constituents, interested in salt manufactures, believed they would be injuriously affected by placing salt on the free list.

Mr. Peffer's amendment was lost, 21 yeas to 33 nays.

Round About Town.

The body of James Miller, who was drowned on June 17 in the North River at the foot of Thirty-fourth street, was recovered this morning and placed in the morgue.

Arthur Carter, twenty-three years old, of 109 Allen street, was held for trial in Essex Market Court today for burglarizing a box at 269 Broome street, and stealing a keg of beer.

In the Essex Market Police Court to-day Mrs. Augusta Reiburn, twenty-seven years old, of 255 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, was held for trial for the agency of goods valued at $4.75 from Hildy's store, the dealer the charge was claimed that she purchased the goods.

IT WILL BE WARMER.

Pantata Dunn Says Prepare to Roast To-Morrow.

Hot Wave Coming in Advance of a Big Storm.

From Over in New Jersey De Voe Predicts Big Thunder-Storms.

Elas B. Dunn, the "Big Pantata" of the Weather Bureau, whose offices are located away up in the top of the Equitable Building, is busy trying to manufacture some cooler weather for suffering Gothamites to-day. The fates have worked against him, however, for while he has succeeded in holding Old Sol in check to some extent, the humidity has increased.

The temperature to-day is several degrees lower than that of yesterday, but the humidity has increased 15 per cent.

At 5 o'clock this morning Mr. Dunn's thermometer registered only 71 degrees, while the humidity was 87 per cent.

Hence, New Yorkers will sweeter to-day.

The temperature is a ten-mile breeze blowing from the Southwest, which will drive the heat to some extent.

The heat of yesterday, however, will not be a mark of what we may expect to-morrow. There is a heavy shower of heavy rain during the last of the month, which is slowly moving Eastward. This is preceded by an exceedingly hot wave, which will sweep over the city to-morrow. This wave is now hovering over the States in the Mississippi Valley, and is moving Eastward by the way of the Lake region and will dissipate the cool weather that is in that region at present.

It was cooler this morning over the Middle Atlantic and New England States. This was caused by last night's thunder showers, which extended over the entire section. The humidity in the country to-day is Galveston, where the mercury registers 80 degrees, and, Wyo., is the coolest place, the temperature being 46 degrees.

"Pantata" Dunn was very wroth this morning over the fact that somebody had dared to attempt to usurp his place. A. J. De Voe, who has been making a forecast of the weather for the last few days, and who is now forecasting a heavy rain to-morrow, was the one who was wroth. This wave is now hovering over the States in the Mississippi Valley, and is moving Eastward by the way of the Lake region and will dissipate the cool weather that is in that region at present.

It was cooler this morning over the Middle Atlantic and New England States. This was caused by last night's thunder showers, which extended over the entire section. The humidity in the country to-day is Galveston, where the mercury registers 80 degrees, and, Wyo., is the coolest place, the temperature being 46 degrees.

"Pantata" Dunn was very wroth this morning over the fact that somebody had dared to attempt to usurp his place. A. J. De Voe, who has been making a forecast of the weather for the last few days, and who is now forecasting a heavy rain to-morrow, was the one who was wroth. This wave is now hovering over the States in the Mississippi Valley, and is moving Eastward by the way of the Lake region and will dissipate the cool weather that is in that region at present.

OFFER OF $20,000.

New Orleans Wants a Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

The following was received to-day:

NEW ORLEANS, June 20, 1894.

Richard K. Fox, Attorney at Law, writes to James J. Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons to fight in the Auditorium Club, in this city, in December. We will guarantee a purse of $20,000 and a defeat security for that amount with $5,000 in advance.

After the above was received the following was called by The Sporting Life, London:

The Auditorium Club, New Orleans, has offered a purse of $20,000 for James J. Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons to fight in December.

Fitzsimmons was a well-known pugilist, and Corbett was a well-known pugilist.

LAST EDITION.

HARRY HILL TO TESTIFY.

The Old Sporting Man Sworn In Just Before Recess Was Called.

WITNESSES "OUT OF TOWN."

Proprietors of Alleged Disorderly Houses Represented by Their Housekeepers.

IDA MARTIN FOR MRS. MCARTHY.

Never Saw Money Paid -- Mrs. Clinton Must Complain of the Policeman Who Arrested Her.

Just before the Lexow Investigating Committee adjourned for recess at 1 o'clock to-day Harry Hill, the famous sporting man, was sworn in as a witness.

He will give his testimony this afternoon, and interesting details may be expected.

Before the Police Investigating Committee resumed its work this morning there were rumors that another day of sensational disclosures was ahead.

Mr. Hill, the chief investigator, hinted last evening that he was prepared to open up a new line of inquiry to-day, and that a number of witnesses had been summoned who would give some novel and interesting testimony.

The result was that the space behind the railing usually reserved for witnesses was crowded with bluecoats this morning, while four or five fashionably dressed women, who were escorted into court by a number of policemen, gave seats in the opposite side of the rail near the counsel's table. There was promise of a lively session.

Uncle Dan Bradley, who was one of the first members of the Committee to arrive, was considerably exercised over a letter which came in his morning mail. It contained a Chicago newspaper clipping three or four columns long, containing advertisements evidently of places of questionable resort in the Windy City.

Chicago Wants the Committee.

"I wonder what they sent that to me for?" queried the Senator. "They surely can't expect the Committee to go out and investigate the wickedness of Chicago. We have enough to do right here at home."

Mr. Coff was not present when Chairman Lexow called the Committee to order at 9:45 A. M., so Mr. Moss asked the Committee to wait for him. He soon came in, wearing a leaf of ivy and a sprig of shamrock in the buttonhole of his coat.

He glanced with evident satisfaction at the row of "June buds" from the Tenderloin, which had been placed on the desks of the members of the Committee.

All the members of the Committee were present, with the exception of Senator Aldrich. Chairman Lexow made the announcement that there were no suspicious against Bookkeeper Anderson, who had been spoken of as having disappeared and was suspected of having betrayed the secrets of the Committee.

Anderson, he said, had been sent away on work connected with the Committee.

Never Heard From.

"Has Police Justice Diver expressed any desire to make a statement to the Committee in vindication of himself?" asked Chairman Lexow of Mr. Coff.

"I have received no communication whatever from Justice Diver," said Mr. Coff.

Ex-Judge Ransom said that although he was not authorized to speak for Justice Diver, he fancied that he was more deliberate than Senator Roess in appearing before the Committee.

He said he saw in the morning papers that Justice Diver had been given a question, and had denied very emphatically the truth of the statements made against him yesterday by Clarke, the bunco man, and he presumed that the Justice regarded that as sufficient for the present.

"We have wanted to give him an opportunity to appear personally should he choose to do so," said Chairman Lexow, "in accordance with the precedent established in the case of Justice Roess."

As Justice Diver was not in the courtroom and there was no one there to represent him, it was taken for granted that he regarded his denial of the charges against him in the newspapers as ample.

Lucy McCarthy's Housekeeper.

Mr. Coff then called as the first witness Mrs. L. Norton, who said she was employed in 1890 and 1892 by Lucy McCarthy as a housekeeper and accountant. This was a disorderly house, and Mrs. Norton said she accepted the position on the understanding that she was to have an invalid husband and children to support, and said she had been in the house for a long time.

LAST EDITION.

HARRY HILL TO TESTIFY.

The Old Sporting Man Sworn In Just Before Recess Was Called.

WITNESSES "OUT OF TOWN."

Proprietors of Alleged Disorderly Houses Represented by Their Housekeepers.

IDA MARTIN FOR MRS. MCARTHY.

Never Saw Money Paid -- Mrs. Clinton Must Complain of the Policeman Who Arrested Her.

Just before the Lexow Investigating Committee adjourned for recess at 1 o'clock to-day Harry Hill, the famous sporting man, was sworn in as a witness.

He will give his testimony this afternoon, and interesting details may be expected.

Before the Police Investigating Committee resumed its work this morning there were rumors that another day of sensational disclosures was ahead.

Mr. Hill, the chief investigator, hinted last evening that he was prepared to open up a new line of inquiry to-day, and that a number of witnesses had been summoned who would give some novel and interesting testimony.

The result was that the space behind the railing usually reserved for witnesses was crowded with bluecoats this morning, while four or five fashionably dressed women, who were escorted into court by a number of policemen, gave seats in the opposite side of the rail near the counsel's table. There was promise of a lively session.

Uncle Dan Bradley, who was one of the first members of the Committee to arrive, was considerably exercised over a letter which came in his morning mail. It contained a Chicago newspaper clipping three or four columns long, containing advertisements evidently of places of questionable resort in the Windy City.

Chicago Wants the Committee.

"I wonder what they sent that to me for?" queried the Senator. "They surely can't expect the Committee to go out and investigate the wickedness of Chicago. We have enough to do right here at home."

Mr. Coff was not present when Chairman Lexow called the Committee to order at 9:45 A. M., so Mr. Moss asked the Committee to wait for him. He soon came in, wearing a leaf of ivy and a sprig of shamrock in the buttonhole of his coat.

He glanced with evident satisfaction at the row of "June buds" from the Tenderloin, which had been placed on the desks of the members of the Committee.

All the members of the Committee were present, with the exception of Senator Aldrich. Chairman Lexow made the announcement that there were no suspicious against Bookkeeper Anderson, who had been spoken of as having disappeared and was suspected of having betrayed the secrets of the Committee.

Anderson, he said, had been sent away on work connected with the Committee.

Never Heard From.

"Has Police Justice Diver expressed any desire to make a statement to the Committee in vindication of himself?" asked Chairman Lexow of Mr. Coff.

"I have received no communication whatever from Justice Diver," said Mr. Coff.

Ex-Judge Ransom said that although he was not authorized to speak for Justice Diver, he fancied that he was more deliberate than Senator Roess in appearing before the Committee.

He said he saw in the morning papers that Justice Diver had been given a question, and had denied very emphatically the truth of the statements made against him yesterday by Clarke, the bunco man, and he presumed that the Justice regarded that as sufficient for the present.

"We have wanted to give him an opportunity to appear personally should he choose to do so," said Chairman Lexow, "in accordance with the precedent established in the case of Justice Roess."

As Justice Diver was not in the courtroom and there was no one there to represent him, it was taken for granted that he regarded his denial of the charges against him in the newspapers as ample.

Lucy McCarthy's Housekeeper.

Mr. Coff then called as the first witness Mrs. L. Norton, who said she was employed in 1890 and 1892 by Lucy McCarthy as a housekeeper and accountant. This was a disorderly house, and Mrs. Norton said she accepted the position on the understanding that she was to have an invalid husband and children to support, and said she had been in the house for a long time.

Mr. Coff then called as the first witness Mrs. L. Norton, who said she was employed in 1890 and 1892 by Lucy McCarthy as a housekeeper and accountant. This was a disorderly house, and Mrs. Norton said she accepted the position on the understanding that she was to have an invalid husband and children to support, and said she had been in the house for a long time.